TO-DAY'S TRAIN.

Three cars for Ross Bros.

One car bulls for J. E. Smith.

LOCAL.

To-day is Ascension day and a holiday in Quebec.

Dan Noyes came in from the Jasper Pass this morning.

The 22nd of June has been declared a public holiday by proclamation of the Governor-General.

R. Logan and wife, of Beaver lake, were in town on Wednesday. Mr. Logan brought in a quantity of fur which he sold to the H. B. Co.

T. W. Lines, manager Brackman & Ker Milling Co., leaves on to-morrow's train for England, where he will visit during the jubilee celebration.

On account of the supply of clay pigeons being exhausted, the gun club's weekly shoot at the traps was postponed until the 5th of June.

A jubilee issue of postage stamps will be made. They will be issued about June 10th and will be limited to a quantity sufficient for three months only.

The "Northwest" left yesterday noon on her voyage down the river. Mrs. Howey, Mrs. Jellett and Mrs. Frith went down on a pleasure excursion and will return with the boat.

The oil boring party left this morning for the Landing. Three of the Petrolia men will go north while the other three left on the "Northwest" for Victoria.

Rev. Mr. Speedlove and wife came in on Monday from Winnipeg, en route north. They left this morning for the Landing and will take the "Athabasca" from there.

Jas. Lauder has got the job of looking after the telephone and electric light plant at Laurie for the Lanark. Mrs. Lauder and child arrived last week to join him.—Revelstoke Herald.

The first number of the "Western Canadian" a new journalistic venture published weekly in Winnipeg is at hand. In politics it is independant, in principles it advocates the farmers interests and in style it is large and newsy and worthy of the patronage which it will no doubt receive and the long life which should be its portion.

A young man who was walking across the river from South Edmonton on Sunday night was "held up" by two men, apparently half-breeds, near where the road branches to the south side brewery. They requested him to hand over his watch, but when he stated that he had none, permitted him to go without further molestation.

The Northwest Territories Gazette of the 15th May has the following appointments as justices of the peace: W. D. Shattuck, of Davisburg, Alta.; Richard Gibbings, of Innisfail; Robert Ritchie, South Edmonton; John A. McDougall, Edmonton. The following are appointed commissioners for taking affidavits: W. G. Hutchison, of Lamerton; T. A. Chalmers, of Edmonton; John A. McPherson, of Stony Plain.

Bishop Grandin and Bishop Legal with Rev. Fathers Leduc and Lacombe came in on last train. Monseigneur Legal has been appointed by the Pope, coadjutor of His Lordship Bishop Grandin, who on account of his age has long desired the appointment of an assistant and coadjutor. Mgr. Emile Legal's former mission field was among the blood Indians on the Belly River in the south-west corner of Alberta.

The Queen's birthday was observed in town in a very staid and quiet manner. A cricket match at the fort, a pic-nic at the Sturgeon and a Salvation army celebration in Groats grove, were the principal sources of entertainment and diversion. A dance was held in the evening in the old mission house at the Sturgeon dam, and a large number of the settlers from the Sturgeon attended and participated in the festivities.

J. Flyn came in from the Landing on Friday bringing in A. and F. Lamoureux who were returning from their trip to Lesser Slave lake with Larue & Picard's goods. Patton's party started from the Landing on Tuesday night, the 18th. At Grand Rapids they will pick up W. Clark, who will pilot the boats from there on. Fires were raging at the Landing, and the trail is burnt all the way in with the exception of the part patrolled by the police.

Chas. Sandison, an ex-Edmontonite, who emigrated to the Slocan about a year ago, returned on Monday's train on a brief visit to his former home. Mr. Sandison is located in New Denver and is doing well in his mining speculations. In his claim "The Edmonton" located near New Denver, he has a "promising propositon," with an eight inch streak of good pay ore. The mines in the vicinity of New Denver are only now being developed and opened up, and the population of the town itself, now a fair size, is expected to double during the summer. Mr. Sandison was forced to take a holiday on account of ill health, but will return to New Denver shortly and prospect through the Lardeau and Trout lake country on his way.

A meeting conducted by Ensign McKenzie and assisted by a talking machine, will be held in the Salvation army barracks on Friday night. The meeting to night will also be conducted by him.

Some of the American miners and dredgemen are purchasing black sand. The price paid is from 2½ to 20c. per pound according to quality. Dr. Kelly is reported to have purchased the largest quantity.

Word has been received from S. S. Taylor at the Athabasca River Divide. The report which was circulated about an accident having befallen him in the mountains was, therefore, entirely without foundation.

The John Eaton Co's big departmental store in Toronto was destroyed by Fire on the morning of the 20th. Loss $250,000; fully insured. This establishment is not connected with the well known firm of T. Eaton & Co., of the same city.

The first number of the "Kootenay Guide," a monthly publication printed by Messrs. Young & Luxton, of Calgary, has been received by the Bulletin. It is in a neat and handy form and contains a vast amount of information invaluable to the intending pilgrim.

A large brown bear who was seeking his supper at the nuisance ground on Monday night, attracted the attention of Mr. Collins, who hurried home for a gun and returned to bag the game. The bear had, however, in the meantime decamped, and it was then too dark to permit of him being tracked. Although numerous local nimrods have since been seeking him no further signs of his whereabouts have been discovered.

Archie Campbell, who was well known in this locality, having been engaged in operating Haddon's saw mill at the Sturgeon, also having been in partnership with J. O. Vanbuskirk at the Fort, was drowned on the 19th instant, in Carpenter Creek near New Denver. He was crossing the creek on a log, but slipped and was carried away with the force of the mountain stream out and into the lake from which his body was never recovered.

W. A. Fraser and a party of six skilled oil borers from Petrolia, came in on Monday's train and will resume oil boring operations in the district. The machinery that was used at the Landing will be moved to Pelican Rapids, about 80 miles from the Landing down the Athabasca and fresh operations will be started there. A trial will also be made at Victoria, down the Saskatchewan and a car load of machinery which Mr. Fraser brought in with him went down on the "Northwest" and will be unloaded there. The two parties will operate during the summer.

SUPREME COURT.

The case of the Banque Jacques Cartier against Gariepy & Chenier, reported in last issue, has been slowly dragging its way along since Friday last, and is not yet completed. The argument is reached, however, and the case will probably be concluded tomorrow. To-day being ascension, court was adjourned.

The following cases have been disposed of by default of defendant in not appearing and defending. De Roux vs. Lindow. Judgment for plaintiff for $52 and costs. H. H. Robertson for plaintiff. Cover vs. Parrish. Judgment for plaintiff for $38 and costs. A. C. Rutherford for plaintiff.

Hother vs. Lisle was referred to the clerk of the court for an accounting.

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS.

The license commissioners have been sitting for the last two days considering applications for liquor licenses. The only protest was in the case of R. Stewart, of Lacombe, when Rev. W. B. Chegwin, of Lacombe, appeared and objected to the granting of the license on the ground that the applicant had not secured the names of the ten residents residing nearest to the hotel, to his petition and application, as required by the liquor license ordinance. As the evidence was contradictory on this point, the commissioners adjourned the hearing of the application until this evening in order to give the applicant an opportunity to send other witnesses up by train. It is expected that the hearing of the applications will be over by to-morrow, as Mr. Wynne returns to Innisfail by the return train.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The postponed council meeting was held in the council chamber on Wednesday evening, all councillors present. Mayor McDougall being absent the chair was taken by Coun. Gallagher.

After the usual routine work was completed the following communications were read:

PARLIAMENTARY.

Ottawa, May 20.—When the orders of the day were called in the house, Hon. G. E. Foster began a criticism of the bank note contract entered into by Hon. W. S. Fielding with the American bank note company, of New York, for the printing of Dominion notes and stamps. He complained of the work being given to a foreign concern and that they had been allowed to amend their tender so as to permit their doing the skilled work of engraving in New York, while only the printing would be done in Canada.

Mr. Fielding replied that the contract saved to Canada $153,292, being that much lower than the tender of the British American bank note company. He said he had simply given the contract to the lowest tender. As to the statement that much of the work would be done outside of Canada, he said it was false. The total contract for five years amounted to $523.146, and of this but $6,000 worth of the work would be done in New York, that was making the dies. The engraving and printing of bills and stamps would be done in the company's building now being completed in Ottawa, and Canadian labor would be employed.

Sir Charles Tupper also spoke in support of Mr. Foster. Here the discussion ended.

In supply votes were passed for river and harbor work in Ontario, Quebec and maritime provinces.

In reply to a question, the postmaster-general said the jubilee postage stamps were to be issued about June 10, and sold to the public in the usual way, through the post offices. The issue would be sufficient for three months, but would not be continued.

By mutual consent of both parties, the vote of $26,000 for expenses of the military contingent to London was passed, and the supply bill read twice. The party will sail June 5th, per ss. Vancouver. They will return about July 1st.

At last there is a prospect of the Fast Atlantic steamship service being consummated. This afternoon his excellency received a cable message from the colonial secretary, Mr. Chamberlain, stating that the contract for the fast Atlantic service signed with Messrs. Peterson, Tait & Co., of Newcastle, had been accepted by the imperial authorities, who have agreed to grant a subsidy of $350,000 a year. Details of the arrangement will be made in a few days.

Hon. S. Fisher gives notice of a bill to provide for the registration of cheese factories and creameries and for the branding of dairy products and to prohibit misrepresentation as to dates of manufacture of such products.

Mr. MacLean will move to add a clause to the general railway companies act to carry free, as first class passengers, members of parliament and of local legislatures.

Hon. Mr. Fielding announced that it would be impossible to proceed with consideration of the tariff resolutions this week. Hon. G. E. Foster made an indignant protest against the business interests of the country being kept in suspense so long. Sir Hibbert Tupper referred to the fact that United States commercial travellers are swarming into Canada with large consignments of goods, which they are unloading on our people. At Winnipeg he said twenty-four car loads of iron and steel goods came from the States on Saturday last. Hon. Mr Fielding denied that there was any unreasonable delay. They were only waiting until the business men finished their representations, which have been coming in steadily all along. Mr. Foster had taken one whole year to get his tariff in shape in 1893 and 1894.

It is said the premier waited specially on Sir Charles, and suggested that with the consent of the opposition, and in order to secure an early prorogation, the government would drop everything except the tariff and the estimates, but subsequently added the prohibition plebscite bill. Sir Charles Tupper expressed his willingness to this arrangement, and a bargain was struck, but it looks as if the deal is off.

Mr. Thos. Fawcett, Dominion topographical surveyor, has been appointed first regular gold commissioner in Yukon, and with a staff of assistants, numbering seven, has started for his new field of labor.

EDMONTON, KOOTENAY AND CARIBOO.

The extent and value of the gold field on the North Saskatchewan river alone has been estimated by a gentleman having the professional training and standing, as well as the local knowledge, which entitle his opinion to great weight, as follows:

"Re (first mentioned) assay of Mr. "Harvey of samples of alluvial gold "bearing strata, the following are the "figures I should deduct from same:

"1 cubic yard of dirt equals 3200 lbs. "At 50 cents per ton equals 80 cents "per cubic yard.

"1 cubic yard of gravel equals "2600 lbs. At $2.50 per ton equals "$3.33 per cubic yard.

"Assuming the surface soil to be "20 feet in thickness, the hard pan 1 "foot, and the pay-gravel 3 feet 6 "inches, then the average of the whole "would be:

"6⅔ yards at 80 cents per cubic "yard equals,	$5.06
"1-3 yard at nil (should be ¼ "yard, I. C.),	0.00
"1⅙ at $3.33,	3·88
"7 1-6 yards. Totals	$8.94

"or an average of $1.14 per cubic "yard.

"With 4840 square yards of "surface per acre, each yielding to "the depth mentioned $8.94, the "total value per acre would seem to "be $43,269.60; and assuming you "have between Goose Encampment "and Victoria, one hundred and fifty "miles of river with an average width "of benches of 10 chains, or 80 acres "per mile, being a total of 12,000 "acres of surface; this area placed at "$43,000 per acre would give as the "total value of the deposit upwards of "$500,000,000."

Though there is a reasonable probability that many of the bars now underneath the flats might be as productive as those virgin bars off which the first miners obtained $15 and $20 per day; yet, on account of the flats not being entirely and uniformly underlaid by gravel and the gravel not being all of a similar auriferous value, it is likely that the foregoing approximation is fairly correct.

The perusal of the annual reports of the department of mines of New Zealand will well repay all seeking information on the subject of alluvial gold mining. Deposits similar to those existing on the Saskatchewan are very profitably worked by dredging and the art of saving the gold has been there brought, it is said, to greater perfection than in any other mining country. As the chief cost of dredging in New Zealand is in the item of expense for coal, and, moreover, the cheapest possible supply of that fuel exists in the same field as the Saskatchewan gold (which is apparently in quite as great quantity as that contained in the deposits of New Zealand) there can be hardly a doubt that in this country gold dredging by similar methods would be still more remunerative than it is there. In this connection I take pleasure in publishing the following letter addressed to me by Sir James Hector, who, as previously mentioned, was the original discoverer of Saskatchewan gold in 1858 and is now director of the geological survey of New Zealand.

Colonial Museum,
Wellington, New Zealand,
March 4th, 1897.

DEAR SIR: I am much interested in your account of my old country, the Upper Saskatchewan, in its present state of development. What a change from its primitive condition when I first explored it!

Sir Robert Stout tells me he has sent you copies of all mines reports that give plans of the different kinds of water power and steam power dredges that are in use in New Zealand; so I need not describe them in detail.

Sufficient to say that we have three types of dredges for working alluvial deposits.

1st. Bucket dredge, on a pontoon moored in the stream and worked by an undershot stern wheel. The action of this dredge being limited to situations where the stream is rapid, its application is very restricted.

2nd. The steam bucket dredge. This is a great improvement as being independent of the current it can be made to excavate a trench or basin in which it floats and can thus follow up any rich leads that pass into and through the terraces and flat points along the river's course.

3rd. Elevator dredges. These are used for excavating deep alluvial deposits away from rivers. The water is brought under great pressure, from 300 to 600 feet vertical head, and delivered through a nozzle, into a wide tube at an angle of 45°, resting on a large curved shoe, which smites into the gravel as the excavation proceeds. The gravel struck by the force of the water is loosened and carried up the large pipe to the altitude required to permit it to flow down the sluice boxes and over the collecting riffles to the nearest water course where it is delivered. In this way most gigantic excavations are made, the work going on day and night by the aid of electrical lamps.

As to the machinery, it nearly all comes from England and for its supply you could not do better than consult Messrs. Bainbridge, Seymour & Co., Mining engineers, London.

With great pleasure having again a correspondent in the country in which I still take a keen interest.

I remain,
Yours very truly,
JAMES HECTOR.

Of the modes of operating in New Zealand the second and third should certainly be equally effective here. As a matter of fact the steam bucket dredge is already in use in the river bed, and it is understood it is about to be tried on the flats. The third method—the hydraulic elevator—is contemplated by several parties, but the cost would be so great of erecting large reservoirs for water and constructing miles of pipes to convey the same to the gravel deposits, that unless a large extent of these deposits were granted to those undertaking such water works it would be impossible to get the required capital. It will eventually in all probability devolve on the government to provide a general system of such water supply; the experience of the government of New Zealand having proved that such works are not only directly remunerative from the sale of water and a valuable asset, but also of enormous service in enabling miners who could not individually procure the water to profitably operate ground from which the gold could not be economically saved by any other process.

Meanwhile, I have been informed by a practical miner representing a number of large capitalists, that they have decided, as soon as they have acquired a sufficiently large and suitable property, to operate an hydraulic elevator differing from that described by Sir James Hector in that the water will be obtained from the river by a steam force pump, and in that it will be applied merely to stripping off the overburden of soil and subsoil from the auriferous bars of gravel, which will afterwards, to avoid the immense loss of fine gold to which slucing would subject it, be excavated by steam shovel or dredge.

Through the kindness of Mr. W. S. Edmiston, of Edmonton, I am able to quote estimates of the cost and profit of carrying on mining on a flat adjoining the river. The overburden being taken at 18 feet, and gravel underneath at 3 feet, and the concentration to be one of 7½ per cent. obtained by washing the gravel, carrying a value of $24.10 per ton as per Mr. Heys' assay given in a preceeding page. The estimates, as under, are by Mr. W. T. Jennings, C. E., of Toronto, formerly city engineer of that place:

OUTLAY.

Removing 18 feet, top earth, by steam shovel, 600 cubic yards, @ 10c,	$60.00
Removing 3 feet auriferous gravel, 100 cubic yards @ 15c,	15.00
Washing 100 cubic yards gravel @ 10c,	10.00
Rolling and treating 7½ tons of concentrates obtained from 100 tons gravel @ $1.50,	11.25
Land, superintendence and interest on plant,	14.50
	$110.75

RETURNS.

Less outlay as above,	110.75
Profit per day,	$70.00

Mr. Jennings goes on to say that a good ordinary steam shovel and a small rolling and concentrating plant, on a scow, will work up the above quantity; and that the whole cost of plant in place and ready for work need not exceed $16,000.

From the above it would appear that a highly profitable business could be done by a process which would only extract $180.75 out of a possible $240.00 (the gravel having been found by Mr. Heys to contain $2.40 in gold per ton), and by appliances of which the cost of operation seems highly estimated.

It would not be of general interest to describe the different unsuccessful attempts made at various previous times to procure the gold by applications of steam power. Within the past two years, as the result of prior failures, there has been evolved a partially successful local type of small dredge worked by hand and steam power. The most recent local experience has been applied this spring to the construction of three single shovel dredges namely:

Mr. Brindley's 25 horse power, capable of lifting 600 tons daily.

Mr. Jenner's 15 horse power, capable of lifting 600 tons daily.

Dr. Braithwaite's 5 horse power, capable of lifting 60 tons daily.

The outcome of whose operations is being awaited with hopeful interest, their owners expecting to clear very large profits.

Two American firms have each built dredges of 25 horse power with a capacity of lifting one ton per minute. And a company of the leading business men in South Edmonton is about to engage in the business.

It is supposed that the American firms intend using methods, hitherto untried here, of concentrating the ore and of extracting its value, and it is earnestly hoped they may be successful.

From the foregoing it may be reasonably concluded:

1st. That a large and valuable placer gold field exists in the region of which Edmonton is the centre.

2nd. That the old process is very wasteful and inefficient in saving the free gold.

3rd. That "black and magnetic sand," hitherto a waste product and of which there is an abundant supply, contains generally a high value in gold and platinum.

4th. That out of the concentrate, obtained by the old wasteful method of washing, practically the full value of the contained gold is recoverable by proper amalgamation.

5th. That practically the full value of the gold contained in the auriferous gravel, after it has been rid of the larger stones, is saveable at a cost of $1.25 per ton by the cyanide process.

6th. That dredges suitable for raising the ore from the river bed are in practical use.

7th. That, though no attempt has as yet been made to attack the bars underneath the flats and the terraces of the valley by steam or hydraulic power, splendid opportunities exist for such operations.

There are, therefore, better chances than hitherto for the grizzley miner who, until better appliances be invented for him, uses water more gently, extends his sluice box, saves the black sand and rewashes the tailings; as well as for small dredges in like manner. The field offers good inducements for men having from $1,500 to $2,500 to put in small dredges. To the capitalist putting on a dredge, costing from $10,000 to $15,000, and erecting at an equal cost, a cyanide plant, whereby all the gold value may be saved, the Saskatchewan affords splendid opportunities. No doubt the possibility of applying hydraulic power to extensive deposits will be taken advantage of as soon as the situation becomes known to the mining world.

With the possible improvements in saving appliances, the work of drifting or tunnelling into the benches during winter season will probably become remunerative to laborers and afford them steady employment.

Placer is beyond a doubt the safest, the easiest and the most profitable kind of gold mining. Initially it is possible at little comparative expense to dig or bore as many test pits and holes as may be necessary through the superincumbent soft earth, sand and clay to the auriferous gravel, and so obtain a very accurate sectional plan of the location, from which an engineer can tell, within a small margin of error, the cost of digging or sluicing away the non-paying material, and of getting out the valuable ore. The assay value of the gravel out of each pit and the cost of extraction are also definitely calculable in advance, before any heavy outlay in machinery is required. In ledge mining in hard rock on the other hand no such thorough system of tests are practically possible; expensive machinery is required at the outset to follow up uncertain surface indications; and the heavy cost of pulverising and smelting the ore is a constant factor in this always risky problem. Such ledges generally occur in inaccessible situations, whilst the Edmonton placers are easily reached by rail to Edmonton, thence in a short distance by good waggon roads, or by boats on a tranquil river, and moreover are situated in a land otherwise delightful to live in, where a man can establish his home and family, and in these respects entirely differing from almost every other mining country.

There is a grand opening here now for an expert assayer and mining engineer of such professional standing as would make his reports accepted as conclusive by mining men.

To mining capitalists here is a virgin field of immense extent and value which they would do well to come, see and examine.

Since the above was written I am credibly informed that some of the American dredge owners have established in South Edmonton a market for black sand. The price is said to be from 2½ cents to 20 cents per pound according to quality.

Any further information desired will be promptly furnished on application to the writer.

The skimming station in this district has been completed and the machinery is in position. Tenders have been let for collecting the milk from the patrons and everything is in readiness for a start which will be in a few days. It would be another step in a good direction for the Dominion government though the agricultural department to place about 200 more cows in the neighborhood of the skimming station dividing them amongst the settlers and taking other stock as security. It would prove of more advantage to the country than many of the more expensive bounties and bonuses given to eastern iron merchants to impoverish the consumers and uses of their goods and would also help to make up to the farmers the loss they sustained by implements not being placed on the free list as many were induced to believe would be done by the present government.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

A meeting of the executive committee of the celebration was held in the fire hall on Tuesday night last, and the following business transacted.

Communications were received from the St George's society stating that they would be pleased to take part in the parade; from the teacher of the Turnip lake school district stating that the pupils of that school would willingly participate in the school children's parade; and from the gun club asking that a prize be donated by the committee to be competed for by the club on the 22nd or 23rd, A telegram from B. F. Boyce asking if a prize was given for a two year-old race, was also received and fyled. The secretary reported that he had received notice from the South Edmonton band that they could play only one day and required $20 for their services. It was decided that the offer could not be accepted.

In reply to the request of the gun club the committee decided to give five silver medals for competition as follows: One open shoot to all comers, 10 birds, unknown angles, two prizes; green shoot, 5 birds, open to members only who have never won a prize for shooting, known angles, three prizes. Contest to be under A. A. Rules.

The programme for the two days of celebration was then decided upon, and the following is a brief summary of the events:

First day: Procession of school children, mounted police, ex-mounted police, old timers, St. Andrew's, St. Jean Baptiste, St. George's and St. Patrick's societies, Edmonton bicycle club, local dignitaries and citizens. Procession to start from the fire hall at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning, the 22nd, and march to to the race track, where at 12 o'clock the children will sing the national anthem.

In the afternoon at one o'clock the athletic sports will start. The programme consists of foot races, for different distances, also hurdle, old man's, fat man's, girls, boys, three-legged, sack and obstacle, fire brigade and police races and 100 yard sprint to be run under 12 seconds High, broad and running long and high jump, etc, pole vault, putting light and heavy shot, throwing cricket ball, tossing caber and putting golf ball. Gun club tournament at two o'clock, calithumpian parade during the day, fire works at night. Mounted police, St. Albert misson and Edmonton bands in attendance both days.

Second day: Horse races, thirteen events according to programme published in last issue with a few additions. All riders and drivers are to wear colors, four to enter and three to start in each event or no race.

Bicycle races as follows to commence in the evening:

One mile novice.

One mile open to riders having learnt to ride this season.

Half mile open.

Quarter mile three heats.

One mile handicap.

Half mile obstacle.

Races to be run under C. W. A. rules. After dark a lantern parade will be held by the bicycle club.

Programmes and large bills giving events in detail will be out in a few days.

The next meeting of the committee will be held next Tuesday evening.

RAMPANT CORRUPTION.

An Ottawa special in the Toronto Globe states that the report of the Kingston penitentary commission of inquiry presented to parliament on the 17th is a terriable arrangement of the administration of conservative government. The report shows that corruption has been rampant through the institution, and the treasury has been plundered right and left. All chief officers are to be retired, some to be dismissed summarily and perhaps prosecuted.

The money loss following upon all the waste and corruption revealed cannot be now accurately estimated. Some idea can be gathered from the fact that under the new administration the estimates for the Kingston penitentiary call for an expenditure on maintenance this year of $167,300 as compared with $211,300 last year. It is therefore fair to assume that in this one institution over $40,000 a year can be saved by reasonable efficiency coupled with honesty.

METEOROLOGICAL.

ANGUS RIDGE.

Inspector Calder visited the Battle River school on Thursday forenoon. From the inspector's ability in handling a class, it can be seen at a glance that he is an old teacher.

Messrs Johnson Thirsk and J. McVicar, teacher of Battle River school, were the guests of postmaster and Mrs. Angus on Wednesday.

Miss Mary Shantz will spend the summer with her grandmother, Mrs. Shantz

We will have service every Sabbath in the school house this summer.

Master Fred Wilson made a gash in his foot with an axe this week. He is not able to attend school.

There is plenty of room for new settlers in this district. There is plenty of good C. P. R., and some Hudson's Bay land for sale near the Battle river. Come along!

We would like to see a fall fair either at Wetaskiwin or Angus Ridge this year.

A good shower of rain would be a blessing to the crops. The vegetables are at a standstill.

Mr. Abbot is working Mr. Frank Lovly's place this year. He is a hustler.

Secretary Wilson has completed his work as assessor in this district. Mr. Wilson moved in here a few years ago from Idaho.

The Angus Ridge people will likely celebrate Her Majesty's birthday either at home or taking a drive to the lakes. Mr. Cherrington will attend a picnic among his old friends. They have a yearly celebration. The wish of one and all is that Her Majesty may be spared to serve years yet as the ruler of the great empire over which she has so ably presided.

LONDON DURING THE JUBILEE.

A special Cable letter from London of the 22nd in the Free Press says: London is already plunged in the Queen's Jubilee preparations and for the next six weeks it promises to be the most uncomfortable city in Europe. Along the route of the procession, the fronts of buildings are disfigured by hideous scaffoldings, preparatory to building seats. Even churches like St. Martin's-in-the-fields, have been sold to speculators, who have almost completely covered the edifice mentioned with building preparations. The little sign reading "Services as usual," is about the only indication left of a church proper. St. Paul's cathedral is likewise disfigured by huge stands. The price of provisions has already advanced and everything has at least doubled in cost. Every person who has been able, to do so, has let his or her house for the celebration and is preparing to flee to the country. The fact is every one in London, to use a slang expression, "Is on the make."

BETTER DAYS FOR QUEBEC.

There is reason to believe that the days of clerical terrorism are over in Quebec.

Mgr. Merry del Val will learn a good deal from the results of Quebec elections, and as a sequel to his visit the mandement will no longer be numbered among the forces in Canadian politics.

Bishops and priests of the Roman Catholic church will not be stripped of all political influence when they are no longer free to attach spiritual penalties to the exercise of a civil right.

Roman Catholics are fond of seeking to establish an analogy between the advice which Protestant ministers offer to their congregations and the orders which the hierarchy and clergy of the Roman Catholic church issue to the worshippers at their altars.

There is more or less of a public sentiment against Protestant ministers acting as counsellors upon questions of earthly importance. There is a marked difference between the offering from a pulpit of advice which hearers can either take or leave, and the issuing from an altar of a command which the worshippers disobey at their own extreme spiritual peril.

There is no ecclesiastical law by which a member of any Protestant denomination can suffer spiritual penalties by reason of any civil act not forbidden by the laws of his country. The same law which permits a Protestant minister to offer advice on civil questions, permits a Protestant hearer to reject that advice. But the Roman Catholics in Quebec and Manitoba enjoy no such liberty. The church issued its commands and the machinery of the church enabled its officers to find out whether its commands had been obeyed at the polls. So long as the bishop spoke to his people as a friend to friends, or a priest to his parishioners as a man to men, there was no reason to complain. The bishops and priests of the Roman Catholic church did not deal in advice. They spoke with the authority of the sovereign to subjects who could not disobey without incurring the direst spiritual penalties.

Canada is a land of free speech, and Roman Catholic priests or Protestant ministers will never be silenced. They may be free to offer advice, which may be judicious or injudicious, but as a result of recent events, Roman Catholics may be enfranchised with the same right to reject advice from the altar which Protestants now enjoy of rejecting advice from the pulpit.—Toronto Telegram.

Toronto, May 15.—The by-law vote today on the Sunday car question caused much excitement in the city. In fact there was more interest than during the last general election. The by-law favoring Sunday street cars was carried by about one thousand majority, and it is expected that the service will begin next week.

The Sultan of Turkey will send his son, Mohemmed-Selim Effendi, to represent him at the Queens Jubilee. If his majesty carries out his intention, it is more than likely that there will be some exciting scenes during the procession through the streets of London. The liberal newspapers are furious at the suggestion, and the Daily Chronicle protests against the "Desecration of the Queen's peaceful festival by the presence of the representative of a murderer."

POLICE COURT.

At St. Albert on Saturday 22nd before G. W. Gairdner, J. P., on information of Louis Dumont, Camille Verstraete, charged with non payment of wages, was found not guilty and the case dismissed.

According to the Globe's policy the C. P. R. should be allowed to get a grip on the country before the country can expect "concessions." According to the policy which the Globe opposes, the country should be allowed to get a grip on the C. P. R. before the country asks for "concessions". —Telegram.

An Ottawa despatch to the Free Press says: "Replying to Mr. Oliver, the postmaster-general said the government were considering the advisability of extending the mail facilities to Athabasca and the Mackenzie River regions.

"The somewhat spectacular closing of one or two factories is an invariable accompaniment to any change relieving the people of the cost of protection. Where the restriction has continued sufficiently long to create a few abnormally wealthy beneficiaries and a dependent class, this policy is often successful to the extent of prolonging the evil and aggravating the results. Here the strike of the protected will be over in a few days, its duration depending on the extent of surplus stock to fill current orders."—Globe.
